Government Printing Large Amounts in Bank Notes.

National Banks Having Their Circulation Increased.

LONG FINDS OUT HOW

Helped a Kansas Bank to Get More Cash.

Gossip of Interest From the Nation's Capital.

Washington, Nov. 23.—What is literally a hive of industry these days and nights is the bureau of engraving and printing. This institution is working to the full extent of its capacity printing national bank notes for added circulation for Kansas and other ed circulation for Kansas and other banks.

A certain national bank in a large Kansas city decided to add about $75,000 to its circulation, to which it was entitled under the law, and therefore relieve to that extent the situation in that town. The president of the bank wrote and telegraphed Senator Long to that effect, and asked him to see the treasury department about hastening the printing of the notes. Upon investigation at the bureau of engraving and printing, it was found that national banks from all over the country were clamoring for increased circulation, and it meant day and night work, with added force of men and women, to meet the demand. Inquiry was made as to whether the Kansas bank might not be made "special," which meant that it be shoved in ahead of some of the other cases.

"Special," said the official; "why we long ago made so many of these banks 'special' that we now have to distinguish by making certain favored ones 'urgent special."

"Very well, then," said Senator Long; "make this Kansas case 'urgent special," and it was done.

The rush comes from the excellent suggestion made by Secretary Cortely you recently that national banks suggestion made by Secretary Cortel-you recently that national banks throughout the country increase their circulation to the limit, and thereby throw additional funds upon the com-munities and help out the stringency.

Senator Curtis returned to Washington this week, after an absence of nearly three weeks as a member of the senate subcommittee to investigate certain affairs connected with the Kickapoo tripe of Indians. The inves-tigation began at Eagle Pass, contin-ued in Texas and Old Mexico, and concluded in Oklahoma, the old home of the tribe. It grew out of charges made by one Bentley, a former agent touching the removal of the tribe from Oklahoma to Old Mexico. The committee consisted of Senators Teller, Curtis and LaFollette. It is probable that sessions will be resumed in this city soon.

The new office building of the house of representatives is being delayed in completion, and it is doubtful if it will be occupied on December 1, as hoped. In fact, it will probably be nearer the first of the year when the members move into the big marble structure. move into the big marble structure.
This information was given out a day or two ago by the superintendent of the capitol building and grounds, and is a disappointment which is daily meeting incoming members. It is particularly hard on Representative Murdock, Madison and Anthony, the former having no chairmanship to entitle him temporarily at least to quarters in the capitol; and the latter new members who had built high their hopes of getting into the new building when they first took their seats. Other Kansas members are provided for at the capitol. Miller is chairman of claims and has a nice room; Reeder is chairman of mileage, and shares his large committee has employment there.

When a real boy is a young boy the constant dream of his days and nights is that the school house may burn. It was something of a feeling akin to this that thrilled the clerical forces of senators and members of congress when the news came that the big seed ware-house of the department of agriculture had burned. "Now," quoth they, "there will be no seed distributions." But it is not so. There will be seeds to distrib-ute, perhaps not as great a quantity as al, and they will not go out quite so in the spring, but there will be Representative P. P. Campbell is re-joicing that his family has arrived in Washington. For two weeks he kept house alone, save for his young boy house alone, save for his young boy Colin, a lad of some 12 years. That is to say, Mr. Campbell and Colin lived in their apartment, and took their meals out. Not only was Mr. Campbell minus his family, barring Colin, industrious youth, but minus his secretary, the faithful "Tony" Mellette. So he had to engage in his daily work without the aid of a secretary, writing his letters in tedious and wearisome longhand to the inquiring constituent, doing his department work all alone, and see that ment work all alone, and see that got his lessons at night. The two weeks have been rather hard on the Third district member, fortified though he was with wanderings the past summer in Scotland, but now all is safe, for his family and his secretary have "come on," as they say in Representative Madison, recently arrived in Washington, has picked out an interesting pension case in which to try his skill as a new member. It is that of a Mrs. Martha J. Curry of Hutchinson, and the case is most peculiar. Mrs. Curry married her first husband in 1855, and was his wife during the war of the rebellion. In 1864, while at play with his comrades in camp, he was accidentally wounded by a bayonet which resulted in his death. His widow applied for pension and was rejected on the ground that the wound was not incurred in the service in line of duty. Later she was granted private pension by act of congress, Remarrying, of course she lost the right of this pension, and, under existing laws, all of which were tried, she had no title. As she is now considerably past 70 years of age, she is in need of a pension, and the case is full of interest. Mr. Madison has figured it out that the old rejected claim, disposed of back in 1864 or a few years thereafter, should be reopened, and the case considered on its merits. This he is in a fair way to have accomplished, and those who have been watching the case think he may succeed in securing an allowance. succeed in securing an allowance.

A peculiar letter came to Senator Long a few days ago from Indian Ter-ritory; for it was mailed before Indian Territory ceased to exist and became Oklahoma. The inscription on the envelope was also peculiar. It was worded as follows:

"HON C. J. LONG,

"MASTER OF SECRET SERVICE,

Christian Science Lecturer at the Grand Opera House.

Edward A. Kimball, C. S. D., a memper of the board of lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, lectured to a good sized audience last night in the Grand opera house on the principles of Christian Science, Mr. Kimball is one of the prominent leaders of that church and has served

"If there are any here who doubt the efficiacy and truth of Christian Science and would ask, how do we know the truth of these works, or how do we know it is the truth? To them we say —through the teaching of Christian Sci-ence we understand and know God as ence we understand and know God as ever-present love—that He is the di-vine principle of man—therefore, 'God being the same, yesterday, today and forever,' we are able to demonstrate the same healing power now, as in Jesus' time, thus—the lame do walk, the blind see, the deaf hear, the sick are healed and the sorrowing are comforted." Mr. Kimball said among other things: "God is not only life, but has ordained life and is the law of life and health for man. The theology of Christian Science is consistently parallel throughout with this declaration. It also declares that God has created man that he might have being, and not for the purpose of inflicting upon him inveterate agony and disease.

"We repudiate all assumption that His law is the law of sin and death. Sickness is contrary to God, and God is contrary to it. God is the natural healer of the sick and is able, willing and ever ready to save mortals from the evils imposed upon them by an utterly perverted sense of existence.

no right to exist or continue is to become extinct through Christ and Christianity.

"Concerning the divine Christ there is among men much conflict of opinion. Most Christians believe he was the Son of God, and was divinely commissioned; that His mission was to preach the gospel of reform and regeneration, to set forth the way and promise of salvation after death by reason of His mediatorial atonement. It is believed that, incidentally, He did many mighty works. It is also affirmed that He is the only Messiah, or Savior, and that His way is the only way of salvation.

"Christian Scientists believe all this and yet their sense of Christianity differs from that of all others. We know that Christ was and is divine; is our Savior or Messiah; is the Way, and we know that Christians the Way, and we know the financial clouds roil away. Eugenia, 18c.
